Housing and Community Development Experience

As the Chief Operating Officer of New Mexico Inter-Faith Housing, Daniel Werwath leads the accomplishment of outreach, development structuring, and governance of the organization, which became fully capitalized last year. Prior, as an independent consultant since 2006, Daniel completed market analyses, program assessments, strategic planning and fundraising activities for various nonprofit organizations and local governments, principally in New Mexico. Working with Housing Strategy Partners and Werwath Associates, he completed comprehensive housing studies and plans for Taos, Las Vegas, Belen, and Lea County, and Rio Arriba County, New Mexico, as well as Bozeman, Montana. Since 2010, Daniel has served as a technical assistance consultant for HUD grantees nationwide through Enterprise Community Partners, reviewing housing programs and making recommendations for improvements for clients such as the City of Houston and the State of Oregon.

From 2003 to 2010, Daniel served as a fundraiser, housing counselor, and special projects manager for The Housing Trust—an organization that has helped over 2,000 low-income families to become homeowners and has built over 600 affordable homes. As part of his duties, he counseled and educated over 300 prospective homebuyers. He designed a new down payment assistance program and wrote numerous proposals that resulted in new capital for programs and housing development activities. Daniel also built and maintained many of the Housing Trust's partnerships with homebuilders and lenders, a critical source of homes and mortgage financing for Housing Trust clients. Through his work at the Housing Trust, Daniel was involved with the development of 165 units of housing in seven development projects and served as a liaison and advisor on municipal inclusionary zoning programs and affordable housing funding programs for both the City of Santa Fe and Santa Fe County. He has written numerous successful applications for grants from federal, state, local and private sources yielding millions of dollars for organizations in Santa Fe.

Daniel also has extensive experience in designing, funding and advising programs that provide at-risk young people community-engaged employment, alternative education, and access to the arts. Daniel is a cofounder of MIX Santa Fe, a nationally recognized organization working to innovate approaches to economic development and the promotion of entrepreneurship.
