Subject: (1) New Veterans Board
(2) Idea for a Police Committee

Veterans Board

I saw the approval for your new Veterans Board in the New Mexican. I may be interested in participating if I would feel comfortable concerning how the board is to be established and the specifics of responsibilities. I am a retired Marine Corps major, and have lived in Santa Fe since my retirement in 1981. I worked for Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) from 1983 until I retired in 2010.

I have some personal communications and insight into the operations of the VA, as I am considered a disabled veteran because of hearing damage from combat in Viet Nam which requires hearing aids. Therefore, I occasionally communicate with and visit the VA in Albuquerque, experiencing some of the concerns of other veterans. In addition I am aware of the lack of knowledge and contact problems with the VA office in Santa Fe.

Police Committee

For some time I have felt that we need a similar committee integrating with the Police Department, City Councilors, Mayor and the Community. The reason is due to my extensive involvement with police departments in the past. I have not had much involvement in recent years, but did while employed at LANL. When I get the chance and see a police officer here in town I can easily approach, I do so and thank them for their dedicated service, as I tell them I am fully aware of the dangers and frustrations they experience on a day to day basis. This comes from my working with police for a long time.

I personally feel the need to hear concerns from all aspects of our community, and share information back and forth as appropriate and needed. The desire is to bring the community closer together. I feel the need to work closely with schools to make students understand they should always show respect when dealing with a police officer, etc.

The following information is submitted for emphasis on my background which I feel would be respected by our police:

Bomb Disposal and Investigations: As one of the organizers, I helped establish the Bomb Disposal Team at LANL (non- nuclear) in the early 1980s. I worked closely with Los Alamos Police Department and State Police (including deployment support to them) and taught classes on dangers of playing with explosives to several high school chemistry classes. Class highly received by teachers and students.

- Trained and certified by the FBI, as a Bomb Disposal Technician and Investigator. Other courses with USMC (after retirement from USMC— while at LANL)
- Graduate of several courses at the U.S. Naval Explosives Ordnance Disposal School, Indian Head, Maryland (after retirement from USMC—while at LANL).
- USMC Special Operations Breachers Course (qualifying to conduct high explosive entries).
- For several years elected by police bomb technicians throughout the State as New Mexico Chapter Director, International Association of Bomb Technicians & Investigators (IABTI).
- Worked closely with Los Alamos Police Department and supported NM State Police.

Crisis Negotiator: I was trained and certified by the U.S. Department of Energy at their Central Training Academy as a Crisis Negotiator. Received additional advanced training form the New York City Crisis Negotiation Team.

USMC Rifle and Pistol experience:

- Qualified exert rifle and pistol shooter, and gold medal winner with pistol in Marine Corps competition.
- Trained Marine division rifle and pistol teams for competition.
- Headed USMC Scout/Sniper Training/Certification Course, Camp Pendleton, California.

Graduate, U.S. Army Special Warfare School.

Educator and Technical Consultant: *World Institute for Security Enhancement.

When requested, developed special training material for use in special security training programs for private and government agencies based on program needs. (Work out of Home for several years during 1980s to early 1990s)

Emergency Manager: For several years I was Head of the of the LANL Emergency Management Office/Team, responding to and managing all types of emergencies, including high explosives, nuclear and chemical releases, crisis negotiations, fires, etc.

In closing should there be any interest in establishing some sort of support program, I would be most interested in getting fully involved. Because of my background with law enforcement and as a citizen of our community, I feel in this day and time, there is stronger need than ever in bringing our police and communities closer together—to work together to understand each other, to hear of problems and suggestions for submittal to the Mayor and Council.

In closing: In this day and time— I am a strong advocate for strict gun control, background checks, and training. I can present numerous examples why training (basic handling) is critically important. If such does not become law, some voluntary training would be very important for basic safety of the individual as well as others.

I would be more than happy to discuss more detail with you, or designated parties, for your final decision.

Respectfully submitted,

Frank Pearce
Major, USMC (Ret)

Earl Potter

Earl lives in Santa Fe with his wife Deborah. He has two sons: Wylie 44 and Cody 43. Cody is the owner of Guadelupano Imports LLC, which imports and sells hand crafted Mexican Decorative Arts from its store in Santa Fe.

Earl was born in Los Angeles on August 14, 1943. His father, H.C. ("Hank") Potter, was a stage and screen director. ("Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" Cary Grant- Myrna Loy; "Mr Lucky" –Cary Grant, "Farmer's Daughter" – Loretta Young in an academy award winning performance, and 20 other features) His mother headed Red Cross volunteers in the city during World War II. Both parents were native New Yorkers. His great grandfather, also Henry Potter, was Episcopal Bishop of New York, founded St. John the Divine Cathedral, and was a prominent member of the Progressive movement. His grandfather Alonzo Potter was one of the founders of the Big Brothers-Big Sisters organization.

After Hotchkiss School and Yale University, where he received a B.A. in History with honors, Earl attended law school at Stanford, where he founded the juvenile program of the school's Legal Assistance Society. After graduation in 1968, he became a VISTA volunteer, and was assigned to the Legal Aid program in Albuquerque, NM.

His first case after admission to the Bar involved the defense in a civil case of several of those accused of participating in the Tierra Amarilla courthouse raid. While in VISTA, he lived and worked in the South Broadway area of Albuquerque, assisting residents with numerous community issues such as establishing a credit union, obtaining more police and fire protection, establishing a school lunch program, and emergency flood relief.

In 1969, Earl became a staff attorney for the Legal Aid Society of Albuquerque. There he headed the South Valley Office, and won the case which established in New Mexico the right to a hearing before termination of public assistance benefits.

In December 1970, Earl was selected as the first Director of Northern New Mexico Legal Services. This was a program developed by the Santa FE Model Cities program under the leadership of the father of Santa Fe's Current Mayor, George Gonzales. He fought for the rights of elderly home health care recipients, and won the first case in the nation preventing termination of their benefits without a hearing --: Martinez v. Richardson, 472 F.2d 1121 (1973). This effort was credited with preventing the collapse of Santa Fe Visiting Nurse Services. He assisted in the organization of several successful social service organizations (COPAS in Santa Fe, and NOSOTROS in Las Vegas). In another case, he prevented a finance company from wrongfully repossessing the mobile home of Solomon Valdez, his wife and ten children. A three judge federal court declared the State law in question to be unconstitutional.

In 1973, Earl entered private practice, becoming the Managing Attorney of the Santa Fe Office of Sutin, Thayer, and Browne and volunteered his services to the community of Tesuque to fight the closing of its school. After a three-year struggle, the school system reopened. In 1974, he defended a homeless man against a charge of murder, winning an acquittal on the grounds of insanity.

In 1976, Earl was appointed Santa Fe County Attorney. Working with farmers, ranchers, businesses, long time residents and newcomers, he drafted and organized the adoption of Santa Fe County's first Land Development Code, which was at that time the only such law in the nation to control development based on water availability and other environmental factors.

In 1980 he founded the law firm known as Potter and Mills, P.A. The firm grew to seven lawyers, and concentrated its practice in Land Use, Zoning, Real Estate, Business Environmental Law, and Government Affairs. He served as Counsel for the development of Eldorado Hotel, Quail Run Resort, Translux Theatres, the Residence Inn, Santa Fe Factory Stores, Las Miradores condominium and Sierra del Norte subdivision. In 1993 he was elected to the American College of Real Estate Lawyers. In 2003, Earl closed the firm and became of counsel to the Santa firm of Montgomery and Andrews, doing business as Earl Potter, P.A. until 2012.

Earl has often served as a consultant on land use regulations and water matters. He helped develop a land use code for Mesa County Colorado, and co-wrote a new set of subdivision regulations for Rio Arriba County, New Mexico. He served as counsel for several Truchas NM Ditch associations for fourteen years in one of the nation's most complex water rights cases , and represented the Agua Fria Community Water System Association. He has been an active supporter and investor in Ganados del Valle in Los Ojos, a cooperative continuing the sheep raising and wool weaving traditions of the area. He was Town Attorney for attorney for the Town of Cochiti Lake for 22 years.

In 1997, Earl was asked by Department of Energy Carlsbad Area Office Manger George Dials to assist in obtaining the necessary Government approvals to open the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP) in Carlsbad, New Mexico, the world's first deep geologic nuclear waste depository. From 1997 to 2007, Earl was a Senior Policy Advisor and Attorney for the co-permittee The Washington Group (formerly Westinghouse), to Managers Keith Kline and Ines Triay with respect to state regulatory issues in the opening and operation of the facility.

In 2011, Earl was asked by Chief of Staff John Kotek to serve as an advisor to The Blue Ribbon Commission on America's Nuclear Future. He made presentations to the Commission on the necessity of Federal-State-Local partnerships in the siting and operating nuclear waste storage and disposal facilities, and was credited by the Commission's Chief of Staff as causing this concept to be a central feature of the groups final report. In December 2012, he was appointed to the Carlsbad Mayor's Nuclear Task Force.

Earl has been active in historic preservation for many years. He served as President of the Old Santa Fe Association in 1978-79, and drafted the protective covenants which protect the integrity of the Borrego House-currently occupied by Geronimo's Lodge Restaurant. He served on the Board of Directors of the New Mexico Historic Preservation Alliance.
